

THOSE GREEN EYES

Words & Music by Allen Power

Don't ever say I didn't love you
Don't ever say I didn't try
I can't pretend I didn't need you
I was a prisoner of your eyes

You caught me in your own sweet fashion -
A siren song on a balmy breeze
You let me taste the tender fruit of passion
The longing brought me to my knees

*It was so easy falling down so soft and low
Like a lover's sigh
It was too easy to fool this careless heart
Playing out my role, living out the lie*

Those green eyes filled my soul with hunger
Those lips consumed me like a flame
I don't know how you pulled me under
But now I'm bound to rise again

*Someday when the harvest moon is sparklin' in the dew
And the waves caress the sand along the bay
I'm gonna feel the soft wet kisses, smell the sweet perfume
And curse the day I found I had to get away*

Don't ever say I didn't love you
I finally saw through your disguise
But late at night, when fantasy controls my restless slumber
I'm still a prisoner of your eyes

©1992 Night Wind Music (BMI)
All Rights Reserved